We are an on-campus institution enhanced by a sector-leading digital learning environment, and the opportunities this provides to elevate the academic experience for all students.

We value diversity in students and educators. As a result, you can expect to experience a range of teaching approaches throughout your course including: seminars, lectures, workshops, tutorials, group work, project-based learning, enquiry-based learning, and research-informed teaching, supplemented with self-directed study.

allow them to develop the technical and generic skills which are in high demand amongst employers.

The direct impact of our learning by doing

Students gain significant hands-on experience in the design and implementation of software for real-world challenges. Through this, they develop strong problem-solving and critical thinking skills and are encouraged to be creative and innovative in their approach, to ensure they can carry out software design and development tasks with confidence and good judgement in an industrial setting. Learning takes place in both individual and group settings, ensuring students develop crucial teamwork and communication skills. Students have a rewarding learning experience whilst developing the skills employers seek.

As well as the benefits to students, employers see the direct benefits through the highly skilled and diverse graduates who enter the workforce. Our graduates are work-ready, as reflected in the high employability rates across our courses. They are equipped with the urgently required knowledge and skills needed to integrate into a commercial setting, which contributes to employers achieving their business goals.

How our course or learning space is designed to support learning by doing

Learning by doing is intrinsic in Computer Science, Information Technologies, Artificial Intelligence, and Data Science education. At Ulster, we have a range of state-of-the-art computer laboratories equipped with industry-standard, commercially-relevant hardware and software, which is key in enabling students to develop their skills and expertise in areas such as software design and implementation, immersive software and data analytics. Students spend a large proportion of their time in these laboratory-based learning spaces, carrying out practical activities which are designed to provide an authentic and inclusive industry-inspired experience whilst fostering collaboration amongst staff and students. Our courses are designed in collaboration with industry partners to ensure students get the right balance of theory and hands-on experience to

How our course or learning space is designed to support learning by doing

Our commitment to learning by doing drives the teaching of our undergraduate and postgraduate courses. For those that want to progress to work in law following undergraduate study, the LLM Access to Justice course offers an experiential learning environment, with students working in our dedicated Law Clinic, providing free legal advice to the public, under the supervision of a solicitor. There is a growing amount of research demonstrating the educational benefit of taking a practical approach to the teaching of the law. The theory behind clinical legal education is that adults learn more effectively when they engage in practical experience alongside more traditional study in lecture theatres. In the LLM Access to Justice course, students are supported to put legal theory into context by being exposed to real clients and ethical choices. Through the process of trial and error, reflective skills are cultivated. On completion of the course, students will have developed core legal skills including interviewing, negotiating, legal drafting, advocacy and advising.

The direct impact of our learning by doing

Law modules generally, by their very nature, require extensive reading and writing skills, requiring students to assimilate large amounts of information and apply it to fictitious problems in an exam environment. The LLM Access to Justice course affords students the opportunity to participate in active learning thus facilitating deeper understanding. Key employability skills, such as teamwork and collaboration, are nurtured. In addition, students are provided with the opportunity to develop and practice their functioning legal knowledge in a digital environment, equipping them with the technological skills already incorporated into most law firms and legal advice organisations. The technology has the dual benefit of facilitating deeper learning of the law for the students whilst also exposing them to the role of technology in the legal sector and equipping them with key employability skills which in turn improves graduate outcomes. The law clinic serves the local Northern Ireland community by offering free legal support and advice in a range of areas, including social security, employment, family and commercial law. Improving access to justice and addressing unmet legal need is at the core of what we do. The clinic supports and collaborates with third sector organisations, as well as legal professionals, to address those aims.

How our course or learning space is designed to support learning by doing

With employability being at the fore in our teaching, it is imperative that students get access to commercial and non-commercial organisations to help demonstrate the integration of theory and practice. Hence, numerous organisations get to come in and work alongside students to help answer some of the key questions they are facing. This is a two-way process, both students and companies benefit from this alignment.

Targeted guest lecturers are also brought in to showcase best practice. Our course content is formed from the views and opinions of industry to ensure we are at the cutting edge of what is required from graduates. We listen to external organisations and align our teaching to their needs. Students also get to practice the things they have been learning, which in turn ensures the application is embedded. It's a win-win situation for companies and students. More recently, we have witnessed the desire for additional digital skills from industry, which is why we added new modules to give students a broader portfolio of digital skills. Likewise, problem-solving techniques with design thinking at the heart has also been added to the course. These are examples of how academia and practice can benefit each other.

The direct impact of our learning by doing

Students are at the heart of what we do. Ulster University prides itself on its ability to produce work-ready graduates. It is our commitment to make sure our graduates can make the transition from study to the world of work. Placement is integral to this, and we have a strong network of organisations who take students year after year. These relationships help students get the necessary experience and give them relevant discussion points at interview. This experiential learning is further developed with final year students expected to draw on their time in industry to answer pertinent industry-related questions.

How our course or learning space is designed to support learning by doing

Food and nutrition are vital for health and play a key role in the prevention of disease, therefore this is an area that remains high on the public health agenda. We offer undergraduate courses in Food and Nutrition, Dietetics, Human Nutrition and Sports and Exercise Nutrition. Students are taught by academic staff based within the Nutrition Innovation Centre for Food and Health (NICHE) at Ulster University. NICHE is one of the largest nutrition research groups in Europe and is internationally recognised as a centre of excellence for nutrition education and research.

This cutting-edge research is at the core of our teaching, ensuring that we deliver the highest possible student learning experience. During their courses, students conduct a research project under the expert supervision of NICHE staff, thus providing a window into the world of current food and nutrition research. Our courses are delivered in state-of-the-art facilities, using innovative teaching methods and technologies to promote active learning with a practical focus based on 'real-world' scenarios. Students are also taught by a range of external experts from the health service, food industry, and government agencies, who bring specific knowledge and perspectives to further enriching the learning experience. All our courses are accredited by the appropriate professional bodies including the British Dietetic Association (BDA), Institute of Food Science and Technology, Association for Nutrition and the BDA Sports and Exercise Nutrition Register.

The direct impact of our learning by doing

Our courses are aligned with the competencies of our professional bodies; thus our external stakeholders are assured that our graduates possess the knowledge and skills required to meet employers' needs.

The placement opportunities within our courses provide students with invaluable 'real world' work experience to ensure that they are workplace ready. During placement, students get the opportunity to apply their academic learning to real-life situations and to develop their personal, professional, and transferable skills, enhancing their career prospects.

As a result, our graduates are highly employable and pursue a diverse range of careers including working within the NHS, health promotion, public health, education, research, sports nutrition, and the agri-food sector.

She gave me really supportive and constructive feedback during interactive activities such as recording a patient history, taking blood pressure, or working with new medicines. Nermeen even looked after me when I developed an allergic reaction to the gloves used in the lab, and I am so glad that I chose to study at Ulster. I'm looking forward to continuing my studies and to being ready for my future career."

One university, three campuses, open to all

Together, Derry~Londonderry, Coleraine and Belfast unite to deliver the Ulster University student experience. Each campus informs and inspires the learning and social experiences of its sister campuses. The most innovative features of our Derry~Londonderry and Coleraine campuses have inspired our Belfast teaching experience, which will in turn inspire future advances at both Derry~Londonderry and Coleraine.

The best bit is our campuses are open to all our students regardless of their home campus.

Derry~Londonderry

This campus has been helping individuals to reach their full potential since 1865. From its foundation, Derry~Londonderry has championed the arts, culture, and society. Building on its spirit of creativity and helping others, our campus is also a high-tech hub for health and innovation. The diverse range of courses here include business, law, nursing, sport, music, drama, education, computing, and engineering.

Coleraine

Our jewel on the north coast, our Coleraine campus combines the natural environment with world-leading teaching and research facilities—both in and out of doors. This campus is the epitome of active learning with clinics open to the public, a fully operational newsroom, and the ultimate outdoor classroom, the Research Vessel Laconia. Courses at our Coleraine campus focus on health, the environment, hospitality, and communication.

Belfast

Our largest campus is situated in the artistic and cultural centre of the city, the Cathedral Quarter. Incorporating the best of Derry~Londonderry and Coleraine, Belfast is a creative, innovative, and vibrant environment which has been designed as a 'campus community within a building'. The campus accommodates 15,000 students and staff who benefit from purpose-built active learning and research spaces, alongside social destinations.

How to apply

NI, GB & ROI

What I love most about Ulster is the incredible amount of support and encouragement I have been receiving.

There has always been someone to guide me every step of the way through every problem I was having whether that was in the application process or just issues I was having in class. This guidance and reassurance has really helped me in my move from Canada to Northern Ireland and in adjusting to this new life.

General Entry Requirements

To be eligible to apply you must:

1. Provide evidence of competence in written and spoken English (GCSE English Language grades A-C/4-9 or equivalent); and
2. Provide evidence of passes in five subjects, two of which must be at A level (grades A-E)^ and three at GCSE level* (grades A-C/4-9);
3. Provide evidence of passes in four subjects, three of which must be at A level (grades A-E)^ and one at GCSE level* (grades A-C/4-9); or
4. Provide evidence of an approved qualification at an equivalent level such as Access to Higher Education qualification or equivalent**; or
5. Provide evidence, for a process of formal accreditation by the University, of learning you have gained through work or other experience.

The general entrance requirements identify the minimum qualifications needed to apply to a course at Ulster. They set out the range of the most commonly offered acceptable qualifications but do not identify where particular subjects are needed for specific courses, nor do they represent the actual offer standard or 'asking grades', which are normally higher than the minimum threshold standard of a pass grade.

This is particularly the case for full-time study where the offer grades are affected by the availability of places on the course and the level of demand. The summary refers to honours degrees. In practice, with regard to A levels^, no full-time honours degree will accept fewer than three A level subjects unless presented in combination with other Level 3 qualifications deemed acceptable by the University.

The 'Equivalence of Qualifications' table lists the most commonly accepted qualifications and equivalent asking grades. You should refer to the online prospectus at ulster.ac.uk for specific entry requirements to individual courses. Entry requirements for part-time courses vary. Some have identical entry requirements to the full-time version of the same course, whilst others will vary from those of the full-time version. It is important to refer to the online prospectus and/or to contact the course team before making an application for study.

Accreditation of Prior Experiential Learning you have gained from work or other experience may be used to demonstrate your ability to study your chosen course. You must provide evidence of some reasonably substantial and a significant element of learning for a process of formal assessment and accreditation by the University.

You may be required to attend an interview and/or submit a portfolio of evidence. (Contact Admissions - admissions@ulster.ac.uk)

*GCSE English Language (grades A-C/4-9) may be used as part of the GCSE requirement. **Please refer to the 'Equivalence of Qualifications' table for the most common alternative Level 3 Qualifications. Note: Advanced Subsidiary (AS) level subjects, are regarded as 40% of one GCE A level, provided that your profile also contains two GCE A levels or equivalent. ^Or equivalent qualifications at Level 3 accepted by the University.
